All of our recreational courses include the hire of basic scuba equipment* and all gases required for the course dives. For courses where eLearning is available from the certifying agency, it is included in the pricing structure. We advise students to purchase and review study materials/manuals before coming to us for the course. We can then concentrate our time on skill development, planning and actual diving.

* Basic scuba equipment will include; bcd, cylinder, regulator set with spg, mask, snorkel, fins, wetsuit, gloves, hood, weights and a dive computer. Excludes sidemount configuration, see price list for sidemount rental charges.

 Gases included in the course cost cover only the mandatory dives, as stated in the course standards. For any remediation, additional or optional dives gases will be charged for at our advertised rates.

All of our technical courses include the hire of twinsets* / sidemount cylinders* / rebreather cylinders* / deco or bailout stages for the duration of the course. We also include air and sofnalime required for the course dives. Nitrox mixes and Helium are not included in the course price and will be charged for seperatley. We have a number of backplate and harnesses as well as doughnut style wings if you need them. However, due to the nature of technical diving at this stage, we would recommend owning your own backplate, harness, wing and primary regulators. Please speak to us in advance, as we are happy to help and advise you on this. Please note for technical courses (where applicable) the travel, accomodation, gases, boat fees and any additional expenses for the instructor are to be paid by the course student(s). See our terms and conditions for full details.

* Twinsets available as steel twin 12's all with isolation manifold as standard. Sidemount aluminium 80's available with left and right valves. All our rebreather cylinders are steel 3l at either 220 and 300 bar ratings.

 Gases and sofnalime included in the course cost cover only the mandatory dives, as stated in the course standards. For any remediation, additional or optional dives aases will be charaed for at our advertised rates.
